Some exciting destinations to dream of:

AFRICA

Zambia: The South Luangwa is still a beautiful unspoilt part of Africa Visit it now. Having been written up in Wanderlust Magazine and Small luxury camps of the World, it is fast becoming known for its excellent accommodation, guides, and prolific animal life. You will see few other vehicles and have friendly people to show you their beautiful country and all the wonderful game that abound in

A suggested itinerary might include

Mfuwe Lodge written up in National Geographic for the annual Elephant migration of 2 family groups of Elephants who walk thru the lodge in search of ripe Mangos each year. After a few nights here choose from 6 small bush camps scattered along the Luangwa River or its tributary the Kapamba. Each camp has only 3 or 4 rooms each so your party of 6 to 8 could have a private Bush experience with your own Guide and Ranger and Staff. Aside from your private vehicle you will seldom see any other .

The Bush Camps vary from chalets to deluxe tents and are known for walking safaris. E mail or visit their web to see pictures of each & Mfuwe Lodge and pick a couple of your favorites or if you have the time spend 2 nights at each.

You may opt to fly on to Livingston to visit the Zambian side of the famous Victoria Falls. There are accommodations to suit any budget. Besides the Falls there are many leisure activities from Bungee jumping for the adventurous to visiting the Museum & craft market or enjoying a leisurely sunset cruise on the Zambezi River.

SOUTH AFRICA

Cape Town

A perfect end to your African trip is seeing one of the most beautiful cities in the world.

Cape Town. Accommodations are too plentiful to mention here. The coastal drive and the Wine Country and of course Table Mountain should not be missed. Casual to fine dining the choices are many and will suit any budget and pallet.

Kenya

Made world famous by movies made here, the Masai Mara never loses its appeal. Visit during the migration of the Wildebeest and Zebra.

Amboseli with “Killie” Mt. Kilimanjaro in the distance just over the Tanzania border is magical.

Tanzania The Serengeti meaning endless plains. Plan a mobile safari at the time the migration is there. This will provide you with the best spots to set up camp to view the migration. The famous Ngorongoro Crater is a must for first time visitors, while repeat Tanzanian visitors might like to visit Selous the world’s largest game park or Ruaha. Both now have small luxury camps. You are sure to be provided with fine facilities and see great game.

SOUTH PACIFIC: Travel thru the Polynesian Triangle

Hawaii everyone's dream vacation. Come with World Guided Tours to not only take in the beauty of the Hawaiian Islands but learn about the culture. Visit the Hidden Hawaii to historical and cultural and natural sights.

Visit the fabled Islands of the South Seas

Tahiti, the Marquesas, Tonga, Samoa (Autearoa) New Zealand, Rapa Nui (Easter Island)

Each place linked by history of the peoples migrating by voyaging canoes seeking new lands. While retaining their own traditions they are all unique. See these unique Islands via land or sea.

Fiji: some of the most beautiful beaches, the Blue Lagoon, clear blue waters, great surfing and its own unique history.

The Melanesian people who settled here are warm & friendly and will welcome you with bula.

Australia: From Sydney's beautiful harbor to the Great Barrier Reef to the Red Center. Learn about the Aboriginal culture. Explore this land of contrasts.

New Guinea: Take a cruise up the Sepik River. Stopping to visit primitive villages along the way or you may visit the Indonesian side and extend to Bali for a relaxing beach stay in an exotic culture.

Equestrian Holidays to Africa and other worldwide destinations

Equestrian Enthusiasts might like to begin or end your African adventure with a riding Safari in either Botswana or South Africa or Kenya the horses are well trained and to see the big game from the back of a horse is not to be missed. Email to discuss which ride suits your riding experience. Some are great for Intermediate riders while some due to the area you must be a strong intermediate to advanced rider.

E-mail chelise@worldguidedtours.com for details of any area that interests you, your time frame and budget. We will be happy to assist in planning your dream trip.
